2017 Impact Report

“Roundup River Ranch brought my brother and I closer together and it helped me to understand why he gets a ‘different’ kind of attention from my mom.”

DEAR FRIENDS AND SUPPORTERS,

Impact can sometimes seem hard to measure or to put into words. Unless, of course, you're talking about Roundup River Ranch. The words that come back to us from children with serious illnesses and their families, volunteers, and medical professionals all overflow with stories of impact. Life-changing, family-bonding, community-building impact. And the source of all that impact—is YOU.

Whether you made your first gift, or you've been a member of our camp family from the beginning, we are humbled by your support and generosity. We never forget that you're the reason campers soar at Roundup River Ranch. Your generosity and dedication made so many of our favorite "magic moments" from camp happen.

For every daring climb on the Challenge Course, there's someone like YOU who recognizes the value of a child hearing "yes" instead of "no."

For every child who ate dessert before dinner, or spaghetti with no hands, there's someone like YOU who knows that laughter and joy are essential parts of a child's healing.

For every enthusiastic camp dance in Trent's Cookhouse and candid conversation during Candle Chat, there's someone like YOU who fosters comfort and acceptance.

For every friendship that's made, every smile, every fear conquered, success achieved, Stage Night act performed, and so much more, there's someone like YOU who understands the value of children with serious illnesses experiencing the extraordinarily ordinary joys of childhood at camp.

Thanks to friends like YOU, there's much to look forward to in the year ahead. From the construction of DJ's Junction to the hundreds of campers who will take a break from being a patient and get the chance to be a joyful kid, we can't wait to celebrate victories large and small with you. There's no doubt that you'll help campers shine brighter than ever. You'll help them reach for the stars and achieve their dreams at Roundup River Ranch and beyond.

For everything that you've helped achieve, and for everything that is to come, we offer our endless gratitude for your support.

With unending appreciation,

CAMPERS SERVED

68,742

During the 2017 Camp Season, 68,742 contact hours were delivered to campers. Specifically, there were 46,413 on-site contact hours delivered during Summer Camp season. That means each camper received an average of 118 contact hours during their Summer Camp experience at Roundup River Ranch. During Family Camp, over 41 contact hours were delivered to each camper. And at each camper reunion attended, campers participated in an average of three hours of programming; camper reunions help reinforce the positive benefits received from residential camp programs throughout the year.

Tracking and reporting contact hours reflects the depth and strength of Roundup River Ranch's program as research tells us that the more time we spend with children, the better the results that are achieved.

CAMPER CHATTER

Some of our favorite quotes from happy campers.

"I have loved Roundup River Ranch from the very first day I got off that bus.

Everyone welcomed us with open hearts and open arms. My cabin has been with me from the start and grown up with me. We all share something that makes us unique and that makes us even closer. This camp has also taught me that expressing myself is a beautiful thing and that no matter all the bad in the world there will always be camp to make everything better."

"Roundup River Ranch changed my life so much a million thank-you's is not enough.

I was depressed and having the hardest time of my life when I arrived at camp. I was immediately welcomed with loving arms. From that day forward my depression fog lifted. I was optimistic and happy to be on Earth. Camp altered my perspective on life and the world. It gave me a sense of purpose and inspired me to help the world just like Roundup River Ranch helped me. Thank you so much for this once in a lifetime opportunity."

“I love camp because I get to meet others that have gone through the same experiences as me.

The counselors and volunteers are the best and make each day fun and exciting. There are so many fun activities and I enjoy meal time with the chants and dancing. My family and I sing the camp songs all year long!”

“When I talk about my condition in public people get it but they don't ‘get’ it.

At camp, I can say, “Yo, you know that one thing that really sucks when they do it?” And half my cabin will say, “Aww man yeah that thing sucks I’ve had it done four times”. You can just talk about it and they all know what you’re saying.”

HIGH FIVES FOR OUR VOLUNTEERS

Our volunteers give 110% of their time, talent and their love. They make our campers feel at home and safe and ready for the next adventure. Here's a quick note from one of our very favorite volunteers, Emily Barr, NP.

I'm a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner and a Midwife in the HIV clinic at Children's Hospital. I'm also a mom to five kids. So, a cabin full of campers really doesn't faze me!

I was on the Medical Advisory Committee before Roundup River Ranch was even built. I remember sitting in a little tent and talking about what camp would look like and what medical conditions we could serve. I volunteered at the very first camp in 2011. I love it here because this is where my patients get to come and forget about some of the struggles of their daily lives. When I see these campers back home in the clinic, I give them a little horse imitation and we high five and we all get a little boost of camp spirit. I can really talk to campers about the hard stuff since we have this other background that's very loving and trusting. I get misty-eyed talking about it to be honest, because it's really so sweet and special.

Volunteering at Roundup River Ranch is good for me, too. My job is stressful and camp is relaxing and fun. Plus, the medical volunteers become very close. I used to walk by Dr. Adam, a fellow medical volunteer, in the hall at Children's Hospital for years and I didn't really know who he was. Now we always stop to talk about Camp. It's a special relationship that builds bonds between practitioners and actually fosters a space for more inter-disciplinary work.

Campers build a community beyond camp as well. For campers with HIV it's really important because there's only a small group of people who truly understand what they're going through. Roundup River Ranch is a place where these crucial networks begin to flourish.

With Love, EMILY BARR, NP

FAMILY CAMP

Dear Roundup River Ranch,

Our paths have crossed for so many reasons. Roundup River Ranch has not only touched my children's lives but mine too. I know as a family we can be awkward and weird, but we seem to fit in at Roundup River Ranch. It is so sad that this year was our last time at Roundup River Ranch since Teagan turned 17. However, I will never forget how much you all mean to us.

My wall of fear for Teagan's illness has been weakened and trust built. It is truly hard for me to open my heart to others – Camp helped me do that. I am more aware that there are other families like ours, families that we've connected with over the years at Roundup River Ranch. I am sure Camp has made us better and it has impacted our lives in more ways than I can count.

“Camp has planted a tiny seed in all of us. We will take your love, support, and craziness with us and grow.”

We'll continue to share the amazing stories for years to come. We have made great memories that we'll treasure forever. We hope you will continue to remember us fondly. I know we'll think of Roundup River Ranch every time we see the stars in the sky.

With Love, Michelle Rutherford

Camper parents listed these as the greatest skills their child learned at camp this summer:

- Independence
- Friendship
- Confidence
- Teamwork
- They are not alone.
- Overcoming fears
- They don't have to be strong for their whole family.
- They can let go and be a kid!

"I know that when I am at camp, I am loved every second."

FROM THE HEART OF A PARENT

It's nearly impossible to imagine your child having a life-threatening illness, until it happens.

In 2011, the unthinkable happened to my daughter Grace. She was diagnosed with glioblastoma, an aggressive form of brain cancer. As our daily trips to Children's Hospital Colorado became the new norm in our lives, we had little to look forward to and lots of worry. Just getting through one more day of treatment was our goal. Chemotherapy and radiation were taking its toll on our 11-year-old daughter. Several months soon passed, and the outlook unknown, we were told about a new camp in the mountains for kids like Grace. Our nurses, Molly and Laura, were very excited about this new place and Grace was too. My wife and I were thinking about how it could be possible with such a sick child.

Mostly in a wheelchair and getting nutrition only through an NG feeding tube, we trusted Roundup River Ranch with our daughter. Our nurses and Grace's radiologist, Dr. Liu, were giving up a week of their vacation to volunteer and be with Grace and the many other campers. As we learned more about the camp and its activities for the kids, we realized this wasn't something Grace wanted, but what our family NEEDED! It was hope, fun, joy, and Colorado mountain sunshine all packaged up in a special place with special people.

Roundup River Ranch played a huge part in Grace's recovery. Grace loved every minute of camp and the break from hospital life. She went on to attend six more camp sessions over the years at Roundup River Ranch. She is a true veteran camper and survivor of glioblastoma.

Now almost 18, Grace will be attending college to study nursing this fall and hopes to be a volunteer at Roundup River Ranch in the summer of 2019. Our family would like to thank the volunteers and donors who make this camp possible. We will continue to support this great place, and encourage you to do the same.

Jeff Petroff, Grace's Father

A SHOW OF HANDS FOR OUR EXTRAORDINARY CAMPER ALAYA.

You really can't imagine the magic of Camp unless you see it through the eyes of one of our courageous, brilliant, fun-loving campers. Like the ever-smiling Alaya, for example.

At 17 years old, Alaya has attended Roundup River Ranch for the past six seasons. She attended camp for the final time as a camper in 2017, but she hopes to return as a volunteer or counselor to continue the fun and pass on all her good energy to the next generation of campers. Although Alaya attends a school for children with serious illnesses, she still says her time at camp for kids with sickle cell disease is something extra special.

“The friends I have made here aren't like the friends I have from anywhere else,” she says. “They understand what I've been through with my illness and we share memories from Camp over the years.”

Alaya says Camp is a safe space where she feels special and unique and like she truly belongs. “Roundup River Ranch changed me,” she says. “I am more observant to other people's needs in a way I would never have been if I hadn't attended Camp. I know the friendships and connections I've made will stay with me for many years in the future.”

LOTS OF LAUGHS

CAMP IS MORE THAN JUST FUN AND GAMES, AND WE HAVE THE DATA TO PROVE IT.

Roundup River Ranch utilizes logic models to provide an informal analysis of program outcomes and determine the efficacy of programs. One desired outcome of Summer Camp program is for campers to learn a new skill at Roundup River Ranch as identified through observation by a staff member or volunteer. Program areas and activities were structured around identified goals to ensure that the intention of each activity and program was clear and defined.

TYPES OF SKILLS LEARNED AT SUMMER CAMP

Summer Camp skills learned at camp were divided into five categories:

- life skills (such as independence with personal care, being in groups, trying new foods, etc.),
- activity skills (such trying the challenge course, horseback riding, participating in a team sport for the first time, etc.)
- social skills (such as making friends, listening, patience, teamwork, etc.)
- other (skills that were not immediately identified as a life skill, activity, or social skill such as being away from home, working on English, being polite, cooling off in times of stress, etc.)
- no new skill was reported

* Since new skill development is based on observation, Roundup River Ranch will focus on training staff and volunteers to better identify changes in campers. It is our goal to increase the reported number of new skills in the future.

During the 2017 Summer Camp Season, nearly 63% of campers learned a new skill as observed by cabin staff or volunteers working with them. While new skills varied, the largest number of identified skills were social skills; the top social skill identified was making new friends, followed by getting along with others and communicating with others.

HANDS TOGETHER IN HARMONY

In 2017, we implemented Sanford Harmony to help campers understand and appreciate diversity, establish trust, and encourage empathy and connection. “We have them understand how much love and empathy and compassion we can have for one another,” says T. Denny Sanford, the philanthropist behind Sanford Harmony. Across the country more than a million students are participating in Sanford Harmony. Here at Roundup River Ranch, the program supports the social and emotional wellness of our campers and provides tools for them to use long after camp has ended. We know that physical wellness and mental wellness go hand-in-hand and we’re thrilled to have this new program here for our campers.

Outside of camp, many of our campers have difficulty with peer social interactions one on one, and in small or large groups. So, at Roundup River Ranch, we utilize tools from Sanford Harmony to provide structure for campers and support staff in their role to facilitate camper interactions and create a positive environment for the formation of camper relationships.

Hello? Hello! We help campers get comfortable with getting social.

Sanford Harmony’s “Meet Up, Buddy Up” program offers Quick Connection Cards that include conversation starters, problem solving opportunities, and small and large group teamwork situations. We use these in many places at camp including meal times conversations, large group interactions, cabin Candle Chats, and team building opportunities. The cards support campers as they work on connecting with peers, developing friendships, becoming a good teammate, and feeling more confident interacting with a diverse group of peers. The best part about these cards is that the skills our campers learn can easily transfer back home to school, family and other social situations. We are so excited to equip campers with confidence-building tools for any setting.

CONVERSATION STARTER:

Would you rather eat breakfast for dinner or eat dinner for breakfast? What would you choose to eat?

COLLABORATION:

Using only one hand each, tie a piece of ribbon into a bow with your buddy.

COMMUNITY BUILDER:

Let's sit in a circle and play a game to learn new facts about each other. It's fun and silly. Ready to play?

THINK POSITIVE.

THE WHY BEHIND THE FUN.

We believe in the principle of Positive Youth Development.*
Here are some of the positively inspiring facts:

Campers are #1.

That's Roundup River Ranch's first guidepost and it inspires everything we do. That's why we believe in positive youth development (PYD). PYD is the principle that focuses on the promotion of positive growth rather than the prevention and diffuse of negative behavior. Over the past 20 years, many practitioners, researchers, and organizations, including American Camp Association, have adopted and promoted the practice of PYD to help youth engage in optimal development. In short, as defined by the Center for Youth Development Policy and Research, PYD encompasses, "All of the people, places, supports, opportunities, and services that... young people need to be happy, healthy, and successful." Our goal at Roundup River Ranch is to provide these things to campers.

PYD is the philosophy behind how we serve our campers, offer them psychological support, and and is how we shape our programs

While our campers focus on the fun, behind the scenes our team is dedicated to designing and delivering programs centered around PYD. One component of this are supports—camper activities that facilitate interpersonal relationships. That's why we love when our campers tell us that they view our volunteers and staff as mentors and positive role models. We also provide campers with opportunities, another key tenet of the PYD philosophy. We help campers set and achieve challenging goals, from conquering the challenge course to making a new friend. Regardless of the goal, the success achieved helps campers' positive development, both at Roundup River Ranch and beyond.

We turn research into fun. And that makes everyone happy.

Researchers have identified many programmatic factors that promote PYD, and at Roundup River Ranch we utilize these to drive camper programs and activities. We offer programs that provide: physical and psychological safety, appropriate structure, opportunities to belong, positive social norms, support for efficacy and mattering, opportunities for skill building, and integration of family, school, and community efforts. These factors become an evaluation tool to assess the efficacy of programs.

The good feelings and development follow our campers home.

PYD is centered around the development of key character strengths, and throughout camp, we focus on opportunities to help campers develop key skills that can support them in all areas of their lives after camp has ended. We strive to help campers develop and discover competence, confidence, positive connections, character, and compassion. The spectrum of these skills varies and can be demonstrated in many ways, however, at the core of our culture and programs at Roundup River Ranch, we strive to encourage, recognize, and celebrate these traits in our campers.

Is this life-changing?
Our campers say, "Yes!"

We've heard innumerable campers talk about how camp changes their lives. To us, this means, that our efforts to promote positive youth development are working. What looks like fun, games, and silliness is rooted in research and practice to help children develop into strong, confident, and positive adults.

*Ideas explained in this piece are based on the paper written by Duerden, Widmer, and Witt titled "Positive Youth Development: What It Is and How It Fits in Therapeutic Settings."

CAMPERS
NEED US MORE THAN EVER.

Current statistics show a 37% increase of anxiety and depression reported in youth from 2016-2017.

Those statistics are from typical, healthy youth. When you add in the stress of battling serious and life-threatening illnesses and disabilities like our campers face, we know that we need to offer a truly therapeutic place for kids. So, Positive Youth Development focuses on programs that provide support to our campers in eight major categories which are proven to be most effective in building resiliency, and creating positive growth and connections:

- Physical and Psychological Safety
- Appropriate Structure
- Supportive Relationships
- Opportunities to Belong
- Positive Social Norms
- Support for Efficacy and Mattering
- Opportunities for Skill Building
- Integration of Family, School, and Community Efforts

LOOK AHEAD. 2018 IS REALLY GOING TO LEAVE US STAR-STRUCK.

In the year ahead, we are reaching for the stars—literally. Take a look at what's to come:

ANNOUNCING THE 2018 ROUNDUP RIVER RANCH THEME:

Not only is "Reach for the Stars" a perennial favorite camp dance, it's an important message that we want to instill in each camper.

We hope campers leave Roundup River Ranch ready to strive for great things, reaching higher and with more confidence thanks to their experiences at Camp. We love cheering for them as they reach for the stars and achieve new heights in all areas of life.

DJ'S JUNCTION

Thanks to a transformational gift from Janet Mordecai and the Daniel and Janet Mordecai Foundation, we are constructing a brand new building to open in 2018.

DJ's Junction will be a multi-use building that will house new administrative office space for Roundup River Ranch staff, accommodations for staff and volunteers, provide a classroom to support camper activities and adventures, a walk-out lower level program area, and more room to be used in the future by campers, volunteers, and staff.

Here's the starry part:

DJ's Junction will also house the spectacular Gates Observatory. There are few places where the stars shine as boldly or brilliantly than at Roundup River Ranch. The Gates Observatory will be the perfect place for campers to learn more about the celestial bodies above using one very special telescope that will not only give them access to the amazing night's sky, it will also be projected onto televisions so all campers can experience the awe and wonder of the stars at camp.

A special thanks to Janet Mordecai, a former nurse and philanthropist, for her continued commitment to the power of camp and for supporting this new building that will benefit our campers, volunteers and staff alike. Thank you to John Gates and the Gates Frontiers Fund, Kathy Cole, the Salah Foundation, SeriousFun Children's Network and many other partners for making this special project possible.

MORE BIG NEWS IN 2018:

HANDS UP FOR GREEN THUMBS

We are working hard to be good stewards of our planet. Through a grant awarded from The Forrest C. and Frances H. Lattner Foundation to enhance the environmental sustainability of the camp, we added solar panels to Trent's Cookhouse in 2017, expanding upon the solar array that already existed atop the medical Depot.

In a continued effort to make camp "green" and reduce our environmental footprint, Roundup River Ranch will implement an offsite solar array in 2018 that will generate additional solar power to offset most of Camp's power needs. Not only is this good for the environment, it also helps to educate our campers about our environmental impact and promoting the sustainability of our natural surroundings.

IN GOOD HANDS: MORE CARE AND SUPPORT FOR OUR CAMPERS

When children are diagnosed with serious illnesses, their entire lives often change. In addition to treating an illness or condition, children may be plagued with anxiety, depression, and other mental health concerns. So, this camp season, we are hiring a behavioral health manager to support the behavioral and mental health of campers.

Camp isn't just good for the body, it's good for the mind.

Camp experiences enrich children's lives and provide a significant opportunity for youth development including promoting positive developmental processes such as competence, mastery, positive identity, resilience, caring, connection, and belonging that are known or assumed to advance the health and well-being of children).*

Roundup River Ranch's evaluations and research show that campers consistently demonstrate improved self-esteem, increased independence, increased interest in social activities, new friendships and support networks for campers and their families, greater compliance with medical regimens, and decreases in psychosocial problems and illness-related stress.

Research by the American Camp Association consistently indicates that intentional camp programming has a positive impact on youth development and learning in peer relationships, healthy decision making, appropriate social emotional development, increased self-confidence, growth in leadership skills and teamwork, and a reduction in summer learning loss.

WE HAVE SOME STAR-STUDDED CORPORATE AND FOUNDATION PARTNERS. AND WE COULDN'T REACH OUR LOFTY GOALS WITHOUT THEM.

Thank you to these amazing companies and the individuals that are the people power behind them for helping to make our vision a reality and who keep camp going year after year with all their work behind the scenes

WAGNER EQUIPMENT

Wagner Equipment and Wagner Rents help make sure Roundup River Ranch's site and facilities are kept in the best condition and that we are always savvy about safety. They are there to support all of our maintenance equipment needs; they provide resources to clean our gutters, maintain trenches, haul supplies, support our special events, equipment to begin excavation for the DJ's Junction construction site, and so much more.

Bev Wagner is IT Manager and Bruce Wagner is President and CEO of Wagner Equipment. They have been on the Roundup River Ranch Board of Directors since 2012 and are always asking, "How can we help?" They are supported by their dedicated staff who show up at camp to volunteer with a smile on their faces and a desire to make a difference.

Thank you, Wagner, for your commitment to the community. We are fortunate to count you as a trusted friend and partner.

"Generosity and commitment. Those are the two words I would use to describe Bev, Bruce, and their amazing team at Wagner. They've shaped Roundup River Ranch in innumerable ways, and we're forever grateful for their support."

Gallegos Corporation employees volunteer their time at camp

GALLEGOS CORPORATION

Since the inception of Roundup River Ranch, Gallegos Corporation has been a partner and advocate for camp. They donated products and labor during the building of camp, and their support has continued through an annual sponsorship of a cabin each Summer Camp season. Plus, their big-hearted employees volunteer at Camp with various facilities projects. The legacy of Founder and Owner Gerald Gallegos lives on at Roundup River Ranch through Gallegos Corporation's philanthropic mission and passion to give back to the communities in which it operates. Gerald served as a Roundup River Ranch Board Member from 2008-2010, and his wife Suzanne has served as a member of the Advisory Committee since then.

Gallegos Corporation President & CEO Gary Woodworth says that giving to Roundup River Ranch is the best way to honor Gerald. "Giving is in line with our corporate values and is the basis of our culture; it defines us as a company. Gerald's life was full of giving. He gave many people, especially children, a chance—a chance at success, a chance for hope and we are proud to continue this legacy. We wholeheartedly believe in the mission of Roundup River Ranch and know what a difference this opportunity makes for kids who need it most."

SALAH FOUNDATION

The Salah Foundation has partnered with Roundup River Ranch since 2014, aligning their philanthropic goals with our mission of serving children with serious illnesses. Since their initial involvement, the Salah Foundation has identified a need, worked in partnership with the staff to fulfill that need, and challenged others to align their support with camp through matching gift opportunities. They have funded transportation for campers to and from Roundup River Ranch and they closed the gap on our fundraising campaign to purchase the adjacent property to camp, The Farm. Most recently, they joined the Daniel and Janet Mordecai Foundation to build DJ's Junction.

The Trustees of The Salah Foundation believe passionately in the impact of camp and they never stray from their intent of bettering the lives of children. "The philosophy of my family has always been that one cannot take from this world without giving back. In part, we see our job as identifying a need and then fulfilling it," says Noreen Salah Burpee, the executive director of the Salah Foundation. The Salah Foundation ensures that every child and family who attends camp gets to experience the true joys of childhood, free of charge.

HIGH FIVE!

LET'S GIVE A HAND TO OUR INCREDIBLE DONORS.

It would be impossible to share the impact of camp without recognizing and appreciating you, our amazing donors and friends. You are the magic makers. You are the givers are joy. You give children with serious illnesses and their families the gift of laughter, no-hands spaghetti dinners, new friends, hope, confidence, and so much more. And, thanks to you, no family ever pays to participate in our programs. On behalf of the children with serious illnesses whose lives are enriched by the healing power of camp,

WE THANK YOU.
